

ARM HOLDING
WEBSITE TERMS OF USE

Website: <https://armholding.org>

Effective date: 30 July 2026

Last updated: 30 July 2026

Website operator: ARM Holding AU

1. About these Terms

These Website Terms of Use (the “Terms”) apply when you access, browse or otherwise use armholding.org and any page that links to these Terms (the “Website”). By using the Website, you agree to these Terms. If you do not agree, do not use the Website.

The Website is operated by ARM Holding AU, a company organised under the laws of Australia, with registration number 26161065962 and registered office at Suite 2, Level 3, 480 Collins Street, Melbourne VIC 3000, Australia (“ARM”, “we”, “us” or “our”).

If a page, campaign, portal or service has additional terms, those terms apply to that feature. If there is a conflict, the more specific terms control for that feature. The ARM Privacy Policy and Cookies Policy describe the handling of personal data and tracking technologies and form part of the Website framework, but do not reduce rights granted by applicable law.

2. Website Purpose and Scope

The Website presents information about ARM’s stated technology ecosystem, including artificial intelligence, cloud, media, security, blockchain, digital infrastructure and related brands and initiatives. Unless expressly stated in a binding agreement, Website content is general information only.

The Website is not an offer, solicitation, recommendation or commitment to provide any product or service. A reference to a brand, roadmap, launch, metric, territory, partnership or product capability does not guarantee present availability, ownership, performance, regulatory approval or future delivery.

The Website does not provide legal, tax, accounting, investment, financial, cybersecurity, medical or other professional advice. Obtain advice appropriate to your circumstances.

3. Eligibility and Geographic Availability

You may use the Website only if you can lawfully agree to these Terms. If you use it for an organisation, you represent that you are authorised to bind that organisation, and “you” includes that organisation.

The Website is not directed to children under 18 years of age. ARM does not knowingly invite children to submit personal data through the Website.

Website content may not be appropriate or available in every country. You are responsible for compliance with the laws that apply where you access the Website. ARM may restrict access from any location where publication, access or related activity is prohibited or requires an authorisation ARM does not hold.

4. Permitted Use

Subject to these Terms, ARM grants you a limited, revocable, non-exclusive, non-transferable right to access and use the Website for lawful personal or internal business information purposes.

You may download or print a reasonable number of Website pages for those purposes if you retain all copyright, trademark and other notices. No other licence is granted by implication, estoppel or otherwise.

5. Prohibited Conduct

You must not, and must not assist another person to:

- use the Website unlawfully, fraudulently, deceptively or in a manner that infringes another person's rights;
- attempt to gain unauthorised access to the Website, its hosting environment, accounts, networks, source code or non-public data;
- introduce malware, harmful code, denial-of-service traffic or other material intended to disrupt, damage or monitor systems without permission;
- scrape, crawl, index, harvest or extract Website content or personal data by automated means except through a method ARM expressly permits or as allowed by mandatory law;
- use Website content to train, fine-tune, ground, benchmark or improve an artificial-intelligence or machine-learning system without ARM's prior written permission, except to the extent such restriction is prohibited by law;
- reverse engineer, decompile, frame, mirror, reproduce or create derivative works from the Website except as expressly permitted by law;
- remove or obscure legal, ownership or security notices;
- impersonate ARM or another person, misrepresent an affiliation or imply ARM's endorsement without written approval;
- use ARM names, brands, domains or visual identity in advertising, metadata, domain names or social-media identifiers without permission; or
- interfere with another user's access or place an unreasonable load on the Website.

ARM may use proportionate technical measures to protect the Website and may investigate suspected misuse, preserve evidence and cooperate with lawful authorities.

6. Intellectual Property

The Website, including its text, layout, software, graphics, interfaces, databases, photographs, videos, logos and other content, is owned by or licensed to ARM Holding AU and is protected by applicable intellectual property laws.

ARM, ARM Holding, ARM Holding AU, and the names and logos of listed brands may be trademarks of ARM Holding AU or its affiliates. Publication on the Website does not grant a trademark licence. Third-party marks remain the property of their respective owners.

If you believe Website content infringes your intellectual property rights, send a notice to support@armholding.org containing your contact details, identification of the protected work, the allegedly infringing material and location, the basis of your claim, and any statement or signature required by applicable law.

7. Website Information, Metrics and Forward-Looking Statements

ARM aims to keep Website information useful but does not promise that it is complete, current, consistent or error-free. Counts of brands, products, verticals, users, markets, launches and other metrics may use different definitions or reporting dates. Where figures conflict, they must not be treated as audited or independently verified unless clearly identified as such.

Statements about plans, roadmaps, launches, growth, capabilities, geographic expansion, partnerships or expected outcomes are forward-looking and subject to risks, dependencies and change. Actual results may differ materially. ARM has no duty to update such statements except where law requires.

Verify material information directly with the identified contracting entity before relying on it, entering a transaction or making a business, investment or procurement decision.

8. Product, Financial and Regulatory Notices

References to blockchain, tokens, digital assets, exchanges, wallets, custody, payments, cards, remittances, identity verification, fundraising or other regulated activities are descriptive only. They do not constitute an offer of securities, crypto-assets, payment services, custody services, financial promotion or investment advice.

Availability depends on the relevant operator, product launch status, customer eligibility, location, licence or registration status and product-specific terms. Before using any such service, review the operator's legal name, regulator, licence or registration number, permitted territories, risk disclosures, fee schedule and service agreement.

Digital assets and technology services may involve significant risks, including volatility, total loss, cyberattack, fraud, protocol failure, third-party insolvency, irreversible transactions, outages and legal or regulatory change. No Website statement guarantees value, liquidity, security, availability or returns.

9. Artificial-Intelligence Content

The Website may contain content created, summarised, translated, recommended or assisted by artificial-intelligence systems. Such content may be inaccurate, incomplete, outdated or unsuitable for your purpose. It must not be treated as professional advice or a substitute for human verification.

An interactive AI feature is accompanied by additional terms and notices identifying the feature's operator, permitted inputs, prohibited data, output limitations, intellectual-property position and human-review arrangements.

10. Third-Party Websites and Services

The Website may link to third-party websites, social platforms, maps, analytics tools, payment providers, app stores or services. Links are provided for convenience and do not imply endorsement, control or responsibility. Third parties apply their own terms and privacy practices.

ARM is not responsible for third-party availability, security, content, products, statements or handling of data. You access and use third-party resources at your own risk.

11. Forms, Communications and Submissions

The Website may provide contact, partnership, newsletter, careers or other forms. A confirmation displayed by the Website or an email link does not guarantee that ARM received, stored or will act on a submission. Do not use a general Website form to send confidential information, security credentials, private keys, regulated personal data or urgent notices.

You represent that information you submit is accurate, lawful and that you have authority to provide it. ARM may use the information to respond, evaluate the request, prevent abuse and keep appropriate records as described in the Privacy Policy.

Unless ARM agrees otherwise in writing before receipt, unsolicited proposals, ideas, concepts, designs or feedback are not confidential. You grant ARM a worldwide, perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free right to use, reproduce, adapt and incorporate feedback for any lawful purpose, without an obligation to compensate you. This clause does not transfer ownership of personal data or material that cannot lawfully be licensed on these terms.

12. Privacy and Cookies

Personal data collected through the Website is processed under the Privacy Policy at <https://armholding.org/privacy-policy>. Cookies and similar technologies are described in the Cookies Policy at <https://armholding.org/cookies-policy>, and preferences can be managed through the cookie consent banner available on the Website.

13. Website Availability and Security

ARM may change, suspend, restrict or discontinue any part of the Website at any time. ARM does not promise uninterrupted, secure or error-free operation, compatibility with every device, or preservation of Website content.

You are responsible for your devices, connectivity, browser security, backups and safeguards. If you identify a security vulnerability, do not exploit it or expose personal data. Report it to support@armholding.org.

14. Disclaimer of Warranties

14.1 Australian Consumer Law

Nothing in these Terms excludes, restricts or modifies any consumer guarantee, right or remedy under the Australian Consumer Law in Schedule 2 to the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth), or another right or remedy that cannot lawfully be excluded, restricted or modified.

14.2 Website Disclaimer

Subject to section 14.1, the Website and its content are provided 'as available'. ARM does not warrant that Website content is complete, current, accurate, secure, uninterrupted or suitable for a particular purpose. Information about proposed products, metrics, roadmaps and third-party services is subject to the qualifications stated in these Terms.

15. Limitation of Liability

Nothing in these Terms excludes or limits liability for fraud, fraudulent misrepresentation, death or personal injury caused by negligence, deliberate misconduct, breach of a non-excludable consumer guarantee, or any liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.

Subject to the paragraph above and to the maximum extent permitted by law, ARM is not liable for indirect, incidental, special, punitive or consequential loss, or loss of profits, revenue, business, opportunity, goodwill, anticipated savings or data arising from use of the Website.

For liability that may lawfully be limited, ARM's total aggregate liability arising from the Website or these Terms is limited to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law. This limit does not restrict a remedy available under the Australian Consumer Law or another mandatory law.

16. Suspension and Termination

ARM may restrict or terminate your Website access if ARM reasonably believes you have breached these Terms, created a security or legal risk, or used the Website in a way that could harm ARM, its users or third parties. Where appropriate and lawful, ARM will use proportionate measures.

Provisions that by their nature survive termination—including intellectual property, disclaimers, liability limits, dispute provisions and general terms—will remain effective.

17. Changes to the Website or these Terms

ARM may update these Terms to reflect changes in law, regulation, security, technology, Website functionality or business operations. The revised Terms will state the effective date and be published on the Website.

If a change materially reduces users' rights, ARM will provide reasonable advance notice where practicable and required. Continued use after the effective date constitutes acceptance to the extent permitted by law. If you do not accept a change, stop using the Website.

18. Governing Law - Victoria, Australia and Disputes

18.1 Governing Law

These Terms and any non-contractual obligations arising from them are governed by the laws in force in Victoria, Australia.

18.2 Informal Resolution

Before commencing proceedings, you and ARM will attempt in good faith for 30 days to resolve the dispute after written notice. This requirement does not prevent urgent injunctive relief or use of a mandatory consumer remedy.

18.3 Jurisdiction

Subject to mandatory consumer law, the parties submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Victoria and the Commonwealth courts of Australia having jurisdiction in Victoria, including the Federal Court of Australia where it has jurisdiction. A consumer retains any non-excludable right to bring proceedings in another forum.

19. General

These Terms and the documents expressly incorporated by reference constitute the entire agreement about use of the Website and supersede prior Website-use statements. They do not replace a service agreement or other contract with an ARM entity.

If a provision is invalid or unenforceable, it will be enforced to the maximum lawful extent and the remainder will continue. A delay or failure to enforce a right is not a waiver. You may not assign these Terms without ARM's written consent; ARM may assign them as part of a merger, reorganisation, sale or transfer of the Website or relevant business, subject to applicable law.

Headings are for convenience only. "Including" means "including without limitation". Electronic acceptance and notices have the same effect as physical signatures and written communications to the extent permitted by law.

20. Contact and Legal Notices

Questions about the Website may be sent to support@armholding.org. Privacy requests must be sent to support@armholding.org. Security reports must be sent to support@armholding.org.

Formal legal notices to ARM must be sent to support@armholding.org and Suite 2, Level 3, 480 Collins Street, Melbourne VIC 3000, Australia. A Website form, social media message, or general support email is not a formal legal notice unless ARM expressly confirms otherwise.